Plagiarism policy

The goal of the journal is to protect and promote the authors' original work while respecting academic property. Following submission to the journal, it is assumed that the manuscript is the authors' original work, unpublished, and not currently being considered by another publication. The journal does not accept plagiarism, including the duplicate publication of an author's own work in whole or in part without the necessary citation. Anti-plagiarism software may be used to examine manuscripts submitted to the journal for originality. If a manuscript is determined being plagiarized, the editor rejects the submission.

Submission policy

National and internal scholars can be submitting their papers for publication which are composed in English or Nepali language and meet the journal policy. The article should submit to the online journal system (OJS).

Authors' commitment

Before submission, the author needs to ensure and accept the following condition.

1. I agree with the journal policy.
2. I ensure that the manuscript didn't submit elsewhere.
3. It is my original work.
4. I am aware of the research ethics during the writing.
5. I will not submit this manuscript elsewhere during the processing and before the final decision.
